Detail area

This is where the time bookings for the selected month appear. You have the following options:

- Change period: Use the arrow icons at the top to jump to the previous/next month.
- Include deleted bookings: Select Show deleted/rejected bookings to also display such bookings.
- Add time bookings: To create a new time event, double-click in an empty field or press the plus icon and select New booking. Then select the desired booking type, enter the time and press Save to confirm.
- Add absences: To create a new absence, double-click in an empty field or click the plus icon and select New absence. Enter a period and press Save to confirm. You can recognize absence bookings by the calendar icon next to the date. Double-click the icon to display details of the absence.

If a workflow is set up for creating a booking, the status of the request is indicated by a colored background:

- Yellow: The request has not yet been approved.
- Green: The request has been approved.

Empty fields with a red background indicate an error in the sequence of bookings. This can occur, for example, if there is an incorrect sequence of attendance and absence bookings.

Column Working Time

The working time resulting from the time bookings for the day in question appears here. The total monthly working time is shown at the end of the list.

Column Break deduction

The break time appears here, which is either calculated from the break bookings or from defined working time rules. If the booked times fall short of the required break time, the break time of the working time rule(s) automatically appears here together with a clock icon.

Working time rules are specified in Settings > Working Time Report.
